Lauren Bailey to Lead Fireman's Fund's Entertainment Business

NOVATO, Calif. (May 6, 2010) – Fireman's Fund Insurance Company announces that Lauren Bailey has assumed the role of vice president of entertainment in commercial insurance.

In this new position, Bailey will be responsible for managing the direction and priorities for the entertainment business and accountable for driving profitable growth. Fireman's Fund is the recognized leader in insuring the entertainment industry, including film and television productions, television commercials, documentaries and musical artists.

"Lauren will be a great addition to our team as she brings a strong business acumen, leadership and agent relationships to the entertainment business at Fireman's Fund," said Lori Fouché, President of commercial insurance at Fireman's Fund.

Bailey has been at Fireman's Fund for 25 years and most recently served as a regional underwriting executive in personal insurance.

With an over 80-year history, the entertainment division at Fireman's Fund is dedicated to helping producers, studios and musical artists achieve the artistic results they are seeking, yet also ensure the safety of all productions. Its dedicated team of insurance professionals includes specialized underwriters and loss control experts who each have about 20 years of experience in the entertainment field.
