National Trust Insurance Services, LLC and Fireman's Fund Continue Partnership to Provide Historic Buildings Insurance Coverage

Washington, D.C., (January 14, 2010) – National Trust Insurance Services, LLC (NTIS), a subsidiary of the National Trust for Historic Preservation, and Fireman's Fund Insurance Company announced today a partnership to provide specialized insurance coverage for owners of historic commercial properties, including historic sites, theatres, house museums, hotels and habitational locations.

Fireman's Fund partnered with NTIS to provide policyholders with enhanced historic property coverages, expertise, and customer service. The historic property product is solely distributed through NTIS.

"This alignment allows us to provide a customized solution to historic property owners nationwide, as well as to the agents who currently represent them. Besides offering a broad historic property form, our capabilities also include fine arts, general liability, auto, workers compensation and umbrella," said Brian Phoebus, Vice President at NTIS.

Fireman's Fund was the first insurer to develop and offer a comprehensive insurance policy specifically designed for owners of historic commercial properties. NTIS assists policyholders in addressing the needs of historic property owners with the proper valuation of historic property and collections, and coverage that protects against the loss of a structure's historic materials and original craftsmanship.

"Every day, we strive to help our historic property owners protect and preserve their property with a product designed to give them the confidence and security of knowing that they will have the needed flexibility at the time of loss to restore their property back to its original splendor. This partnership allows our customers to benefit from the specialized expertise of Fireman's Fund and NTIS, as well as, the affiliation with the National Trust for Historic Preservation," said Brian Klepchick, Program Director, Fireman's Fund.
